Elimination of Static Promised The Radio World

Professor Dana Demarest Says He Has Invented an Attachment to Control Interference in Radio Reception and It Works.

(Copyright, 1926, by International News Service.)

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 8.—Absolute elimination of static was promised the radio world today by Professor Dana Demarest, head of the department of metallurgy, Ohio State University, who admitted to International News Service his identity as the creative genius behind a secret invention for which patent is pending.

Further than the bare statement that he had produced a simple radio attachment and had proved conclusively that it will intercept all forms of interference, Professor Demarest, acting on advice of his attorney, declined to give further information.

Family of Scientists.

The discovery that Professor Demarest had produced the device which is registered in the United States patent office under the name of C. W. Woodruff, a Columbus attorney, added tremendously to its importance in scientific circles. Demarest is a member of a family of scientists and students. He was identified a short time ago as a ceramist and samples of clay to which he had given, by his own formula, that rare glow coloring believed to have been lost in the mystery of the pyramids, brought him world wide attention.

While he refused to discuss the construction or application of his invention until his rights had been fully protected by the government, the professor revealed in an exclusive interview that many demonstrations had been made in the presence of prominent radio manufacturers or their representatives, who declared the instrument a sesame to a revolutionized industry. They offered him various sums ranging from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 for sole control of the invention, he said. Since he does not care to become a producer, he will market it as soon as the patent is granted.

No Scientific Discovery.

Although his device is based on a scientific truth, Professor Demarest said, it is not a scientific discovery.

"There are a number of facts that enter into the operation of the interference," he confessed, "but as a whole, the mechanism is small and of simple construction. It can be manufactured at a remarkably low cost and installed on any radio set or built into sets when they are manufactured."

Static Not Grounded.

"Static is not grounded by this equipment, as may be the popular belief. It merely is intercepted and carried into discard before the interference can reach the head phones or loud speaker."

Professor Demarest said he had been experimenting with static elimination ever since radio was introduced, and that while he entertained a more or less latent belief that some one eventually would fetter the ether tyrant, he was startled one night to find that a finishing touch to the invention suddenly brought in a human voice and the resonant notes of a musical instrument with an undreamed of clearness and volume.

No Longer a Question.

"There is no longer a question of our ability to get away from static," the professor declared.

"I have made a radio attachment to control interference in reception and it works. It soon will be manufactured as a vital part of every radio. The principle is the same as that of a farmer's threshing machine, which separates the chaff from the grain. In radio clear reception is the golden grain and my invention the machine that bears off the chaff."

MAILED LETTER IN FIRE BOX; FIREMEN RESPONDED.

John Long, an aged resident of upper Washington avenue, tried to mail a letter in Fire Alarm Box 62, Tremper avenue and Downs street, about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, turning in an alarm of fire to which the fire department responded. Mr. Long realized he had made a mistake and waited at the fire box until the firemen arrived when he explained how it had happened. He was visiting a friend who is ill on Tremper avenue and on leaving, he asked to mail the letter. He became somewhat confused and opened the fire box by mistake, stuffing the letter inside, which caused the alarm. The fire department was held up four minutes on the Smith avenue crossing by a passing freight train.

WELSH-MACKAY WEDDING ALL NIGHT, SAYS FORD

Saturday, Jan. 9.—The world's richest man, Henry Ford, took the marriage of Irving Berlin, Jan. 8, and Edith Mackay, society debutante, in all right. Ford, who was at his historic Riverside Inn, today said:

"What has love and religion got to do with the marriage of this married couple? I can't see any harm in such a marriage when the contracting parties love each other. Let society criticize the marriage. In the end what does it amount to? I say let Mr. and Mrs. Berlin alone."

K. K. K. Man Sees Bright Future

Points to Success of Kamalians Under Home Rule and Expects Great Things, Including Building of Kounty Klavern.

In the course of a lengthy letter, most of which covers ground already covered in other letters that have been printed, a Milton Klansman writes:

I honestly believe that the I. K. K. and the K. K. K. will now patch up their differences, now that Whaley and Fighting Bob are out of the county and a minister of Saugerties is to be our next Kleagle. Things will again run smoothly in Ulster County. The Kounty Klavern to seat 20,000 will be built in Kingston. What puzzles me is why Sheriff Wells did not remove Whaley?

Did you ever hear of any trouble in that noble branch of the K. K. K., the Kamelians? No! Why? The Kamelians in Ulster County are headed by a lady from Ulster county. Now that we have a Kleagle who we know the Ku Klux Klan will prosper in Ulster County.

The Klan is fast coming into its own, with over 2,500,000 members in the Empire State and many millions more in America.

For Christ and America.

Odd Fellows Hold Installation

Newly Elected Officers of Aretas Lodge Installed in Odd Fellows' Hall by District Deputy Trowbridge—Raymond Lodge Confers Degree.

Wednesday evening was a big night in local Odd Fellows' circles when the recently elected officers of Aretas Lodge, No. 172, I. O. O. F., were installed with impressive ceremonies by District Deputy Trowbridge of Shokan and his official staff. The meeting was held in the new lodge rooms at Broadway and Brewster street.

About thirty-five members of William H. Raymond Lodge, No. 59, of Saugerties attended the meeting when dedication ceremonies of the new Odd Fellows' Temple were held, and the Raymond Lodge degree conferred the initiatory degree on three candidates.

The new officers of Aretas Lodge who were installed are: Noble grand, Arthur Tubby; vice grand, Claude Chamberlain, recording secretary, Harry F. Gerhardt; financial secretary, Edith P. Flowers; treasurer, John H. Berger; warden, Newton C. Van Etten; conductor, Leroy J. Marks; inside guard, Sidney A. Johnston; outside guard, Fred H. Tubby; R. S. N. G., David H. Bush; L. S. N. G., John H. Cramer; R. S. G., Emil Otto; Jr., L. S. V. G., Charles Slater; R. S. S., Henry Marquart; L. S. S., Jacob Schary; chaplain, Chester A. Van De Mark, and trustee, Alfred Slater.

At the close of the lodge a banquet was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Husband Had His Wife Arrested

Mrs. Marie Stewart was arrested by Policeman Charles J. Murphy on a warrant obtained by her husband, Ralph Stewart, on Thursday evening and was arranged in police court before Judge Shufeldt this morning on a charge of petit larceny preferred against her by her husband.

Mr. Stewart claimed that on December 24 of last year his wife, who does not live with him, stole his gold ring.

Mrs. Stewart, who said she is living with her sister, entered a plea of not guilty. The hearing was adjourned to January 14 and bail fixed at $300.

DeWitt-VanAken New Law Firm

Macdonald DeWitt of Kingston and New York and Harry H. Van Aken of New York, have formed a partnership for the general practice of law under the firm name of DeWitt and Van Aken, with offices at No. 28 West 44th street, New York city.

Mr. DeWitt for a number of years has been a prominent member of the New York bar. Mr. Van Aken is a native of Port Ewen and obtained his education in the schools of this city, and later went to New York city where in 1915 he entered the law office of Mr. DeWitt. For several years Mr. Van Aken has been Mr. DeWitt's principal office assistant and has been prominently identified with the law work of the office.

Associated with the new law firm are Arthur A. Meynahan, Carl A. Epsach and Daniel A. Doran.

Duke Stricken With Indisposition.

Turin, Italy, Jan. 15.—The Duke of Aosta, brother of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy and son of the late Queen Margherita, was stricken today with indisposition and will not be able to attend the funeral of his mother.

State Conference Of Assessors

Local Assessors, Supervisors and Other Taxing Officials Urged to Attend Conference at Albany Where Many Problems Will Be Discussed.

Albany, Jan. 8.—The Fifth State Conference of Assessors and the Twelfth State Conference on Taxation will take place at Chancellor's Hall, Albany, February 2, 3 and 4, under the direction of the State Tax Commission and the State Tax Association.

Governor Alfred E. Smith and the legislative leaders, including the chairman of the committees on taxation of both branches of the legislature will be present and address the conference.

The primary purpose of this year's conference will be to develop a complete and comprehensive discussion of the local tax situation and the problems that beset the local assessors. Consequently attendance at this conference will be of the utmost importance to assessors, supervisors, taxing officials generally and taxpayers who may have some phase of taxation which they desire considered.

Four full sessions will be devoted to the general discussion of the duties of the local assessors and at least one full session will be devoted to a "Question Box" at which time assessors and supervisors of the various counties will have the opportunity to ask informally and receive answers to any possible phase of their tax problems. However, it is requested that subjects for the question box and the informal discussion of the program be submitted in writing in advance.

The call of a biennial session of supervisors and tax officials is directed by law but the meetings in previous years became of such importance and value to those participating in the conference that even if it were not directed by law the attendance would be very large. The public generally is invited to take part in the conference.

The program which is now being arranged will contain the names of many prominent speakers on tax subjects and includes among other topics the following: "The Trend of Values of Farm Properties," "County Equalization of Assessments," "Equal Assessments for Taxation Purposes," "Assessment of Personal Property" and "The Assessment of Property of Industrial and Public Utilities Corporations."

PRINCE CAROL IS TIRED OF SECLUSION

Milan, Italy, Jan. 8.—Prince Carol, who has renounced his rights to the throne of Roumania, is today thoroughly tired of the seclusion which public curiosity has forced upon him.

"It's hell staying indoors like this," said Prince Carol as he started upon his tenth day of seclusion in the apartments which he has taken in the Hotel De La Ville, "but I don't know how otherwise to escape the public curiosity which is making my life unbearable."

Prince Carol registered a wholesale denial of newspaper stories which have been published regarding his future, and also denied interviews attributed to him.

"Much has been printed about what I intend to do, but it's all guess work because I have kept silent," said the prince. "All sorts of impossible stories have been printed about Madame Lupescu and myself. I haven't any plans and I haven't any thought of entering industry or going to America. I don't know what I am going to do. I shall remain in Italy for a time, however, probably in Milan."

"UNCLE JOHN" TO PLAY FIDDLE AT BOSTON THEATRE

Boston, Mass., Jan. 8.—John J. Wilder, the president's uncle, today looked over a city for the first time in his eighty years of life.

"Uncle John" came down from his Plymouth, Vermont, farm with his son-in-law, Carl E. Herrick, postmaster at Brownsville, Vermont, to fill an engagement to play his fiddle at a local theatre.

Astonishment was written on the face of "Uncle John" as he saw at first hand the things he had often read about.

A rehearsal, a visit to the governor and a visit to the mayor were in Uncle John's schedule for the day. The president's uncle, who had his 100 years old fiddle with him, said he wanted to meet "Mollie" Dunham, champion fiddler of Maine. Like Dunham, Wilder has been invited to play for Henry Ford but he thinks Detroit is too far off.

Drama at Bethany Mission.

The Epworth League Dramatic Club of the Union Avenue M. E. Church will present the sacred drama, "The Challenge of the Cross," at Bethany Chapel, Washington avenue, Wednesday evening, January 12. A free will offering will be taken.

Tallies Men Officers.

The seventh annual meeting of the Kingston Tailors' Association, Inc., was held Thursday and the following officers were elected: J. J. Rosenzweig, president; J. J. Teller, vice-president; and J. J. Spinkov, secretary and treasurer. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Coal Conference Down to Business

Important Developments are Impending at Today's Conference—New Proposal Acceptable But For a Few Points.

New York, Jan. 8.—In an atmosphere tense with expectancy, representatives of the miners and operators this afternoon went into what was regarded as their "crucial conference," designed to bring to an end the calamitous strike which has crippled the anthracite industry.

Consideration of the new proposals, outlined exclusively last Wednesday by International News Service, was, it was understood, the business of the hour.

The conference was late in getting started, due to a delay of over an hour on the part of W. W. Inglis, head of the operators' committee, who, like John L. Lewis, head of the miners' committee, has been mysteriously busy in conferences outside of the main conference being held by the joint negotiating committee.

This was the tenth of the conferences and, obviously, it was the most important business-like of all. The conferees were in session but a short time when an adjournment was taken for lunch but, unlike other days, the business at hand was taken along with them for debate across the tables.

The adjournment gave J. B. Warner, brother of Samuel D. Warner, the so-called "big gun" of the operators, and Daniel Pearce, chief publicity man for the operators, an opportunity to slip out of the Union League Club for an unannounced destination. Asked by newspapermen where they were going their reply was "around the block."

It is understood that the new proposal for settlement of the strike is acceptable to many of the operators, and, except for a point here and there, to Lewis, too. Both sides have gone over the proposal thoroughly, despite the denials which were not being made today.

The consensus of those informed regarding the situation was that, at last, the conferees today were down to the "real business" and that important developments are impending.

Ex-Kaiser Behind Counterfeit Plot

L. Martin Says Hungarian Counterfeiting Scandal Was Hatched at Davaia and Approved by Former Kaiser—Patriotic Says Prince.

Paris, Jan. 8.—The Hungarian counterfeiting scandal, which threatens to besmirch the names of the highest government officials and members of the nobility, was part of a gigantic plot hatched in Davaia with the approval of the former Kaiser of Germany, Le Matin said today.

The scandal arose over the discovery of a plot by police of the various European capitals to flood the continent with counterfeit bank notes. These notes, of extraordinary ingenious quality were manufactured in the cellar of the official Cartographical Institute at Budapest. It is alleged.

Arch Duke Albert in Plot.

The Arch Duke Albert, president of the Tesse, was alleged by the Matin to have been an active participant in the plot, he having signed it was charged, an informal contract with Crown Prince Wilhelm of Germany and Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria providing that if the plot succeeded Austria would be divided between Hungary and Germany.

It was reported, Le Matin said, that the Hungarian regent, Admiral Horthy was implicated as well, even to the point of proposing that he divide his place as regent to the arch duke in order to facilitate the latter's succession to the throne.

Secret service agents of France have rendered a report on the plot to the government. It is understood that Premier Briand is today considering whether diplomatic action is necessary.

Cabinet Takes Action.

Berlin, Jan. 8.—The Hungarian counterfeiting plot took a sensational turn today when the cabinet decided to proceed against deputies alleged to be implicated, despite their parliamentary immunity, according to dispatches from Budapest.

Proceedings will be started immediately against Deputy Eckhardt, member of Admiral Horthy, and in just time, chief of the Fascist, who is alleged to have boasted that there is no power in Hungary big enough to touch him.

Patriotic Act Says Prince.

Prince Windischgratz, who was arrested as head of the counterfeiting plot, still insists that the scheme was prompted entirely from patriotic motives and is therefore justified.

The plot has come very close to the government for among those arrested is Andreas Andor, son of the arch duke secretary of the ministry of justice.

Machines for the counterfeiting are reported to have been found in the medieval castle of Prince Windischgratz.

Those arrested declare that the only motive for the plot was to gratify the Archduke Albert upon the throne.

Lancer Arrested On Arson Charge

Albany Avenue Man Accused of Setting Fire to His Home at 540 Albany Avenue on December 27—Firemen Found Five Different Fires Blazing.

Isadore Lancer of No. 540 Albany avenue was placed under arrest this morning by Sergeant Charles Phinney of the police department who charged Lancer with the crime of arson in the third degree in setting fire to his home on Albany avenue on the evening of December 27, 1925. Lancer was arraigned before Judge Shufeldt in police court and an adjournment was taken until Monday morning so that he could engage an attorney. Bail was fixed at $3,000.

Attached to the information which had been sworn to by Sergeant Phinney are the affidavits of Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, Firemen Fred A. LaTour, John J. Hoffman and Edward M. Gillen, Mrs. Helen Roosa and Louis Hilowitz.

Found Five Fires.

The fire was first discovered by some one passing the house who saw smoke seeping out of a window and ran over to the Roosa home on the opposite side of the street and had Mrs. Roosa send in a still alarm for the fire department.

When the firemen arrived they found five different fires scattered through the building, all of which were extinguished without doing much damage to the building, which is a two story frame structure.

Lancer's Story of Fire.

One of the fires was discovered in the room where Lancer was sleeping on a bed made out of boards stretched on top of the laundry tubs. Lancer claimed he was awakened by the smoke and ran over to the Roosa house and asked that the firemen be called.

Another fire was discovered in another room used by Lancer's boys as a bedroom. It was in a mattress that had been soaked in gasoline and kerosene, which Lancer claimed he had used to kill some bedbugs.

At the time of the fires Lancer was the only member of the family at home, having sent his wife and two boys to New York city for the holidays.

Authorities Investigated.

The five fires, according to the fire and police departments, were plainly of incendiary origin. Lancer was taken to police headquarters and questioned for several hours, but his story that he did not know how the fire started remained unshaken.

Since then a thorough investigation has been made of the fires by the authorities and it led to a warrant being issued and Lancer being arrested.

FIRE DRIVES TENEMENT DWELLERS INTO STREETS

New York, Jan. 8.—Four hundred tenement dwellers were driven to the streets in scanty attire early today, when a $200,000 fire swept through a five story Brooklyn furniture factory and menaced a block of tenement houses for more than two hours.

One hundred and fifty firemen, brought to the scene by four alarms, battled the flames for two hours; although they were encased in armor of ice. Twenty-five of them suffered minor injuries from falls on the ice covered streets and from exhaustion caused by the cold and smoke.

Police reserves were summoned to control the crowd of excited tenement dwellers.

A two story fur store house and a two story structure occupied by a grocery which adjoins the factory, also were damaged badly by the fire. The cause of the fire was not determined.

"AMERICA DOESN'T LET EUROPE LIVE," SAYS TROTSKY

Moscow, Jan. 8.—America's growing economic superiority over Europe is hastening the world revolution, Leon Trotsky, former Bolshevik war lord, said today in an address before the Society of Political Exiles.

"America doesn't let Europe live," Trotsky declared. "Gradually, she is beating Europe into a state of submission, creating for the continent unbearable living conditions. 'On the other hand the Soviet unions are a constant source of revolutionary danger to Europe. The old world is thus between two fires. America, on the one hand, which is strangling her with the dollar, and Russia, on the other hand, which aims to co-ordinate socialism with the American technique."

ASK THE QUESTION. HERE IS THE ANSWER

The World Almanac for 1926 is Now Ready.

The World Almanac for 1926 was published with the New Year. For forty years this standard ready reference annual has been indispensable and never more welcome than today. It puts a million facts within arm's reach. In its 960 pages of small but clear type are compressed the history of the United States and of the whole world. The history made in 1925 is there. The facts and statistics are from authoritative sources, well digested, well arranged. The Almanac is for sale in local book stores.

Overnight News Told in Brief

New York, Jan. 8.—Plans to build an all-metal dirigible type airship two and one-half times the size of the Shenandoah were announced by Carl F. Fritzsche, general manager of the Aircraft Development Corporation of Detroit. The ship will contain 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Suit for property decided by Jacobus Van De Bogert in 1718 as a site for a church and burial ground has been brought by Van De Bogert's seventeen heirs against the Reformed Dutch Church of Poughkeepsie on the ground that the deed was not complied with.

New York, Jan. 8.—Four daring holdups in the last 24 hours netted robbers $51,000.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 8.—The New Jersey branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union ousted from membership Mrs. Bertha Shippen Irving of Haddonfield, N. J., because she declared recently that "prohibition was ineffective and must be made less drastic." Mrs. Irving is a member of the state board of education and the Democratic state committee.

Supervisors Made Many Mixtures

Political History of Ulster County Filled With Instances Where Partisanship Was Discarded in Selection of Officials.

That there is no new thing under the sun, even in Ulster county politics, is shown clearly by a glance back over the proceedings of the Ulster county board of supervisors. An astounding number of mixtures and divisions are shown.

In the years 1873 and 1874, with Democratic chairman and clerks the board elected Peter Cantine, Republican, counsel.

In 1884 the Hon. C. Meach Woolsey, Republican, was chairman, John E. Kraft, Democrat, was clerk and J. Chipp, Democrat, clerk and counsel, respectively.

In 1884 the Hon. Meach Woolsey, Republican, was chairman, John E. Kraft, Democrat, was clerk and J. Chipp, Democrat, clerk and counsel, respectively.

In 1886 the Hon. Walter N. Cox, Democrat, was chairman and E. B. Walker, Jr., and A. D. Lent were clerk and counsel, respectively, both being Republicans.

In 1889 Josiah J. Hasbrouck, Democrat, was chairman, E. B. Walker, Republican, was clerk and John F. Cloonan, Democrat, was counsel.

In 1902 and 1903 Philip Schantz, Republican, was chairman, Everett Fowler, Democrat, was clerk and Philip Elting, Republican, was counsel.

Doubtless a search farther back in the records would disclose more cases of the same kind.

Licenses Revoked And Suspended

Albany, Jan. 8.—Commissioner Charles A. Harnett of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles has made public a list of 55 revocations of certificates of automobile registrations or licenses to drive and 374 suspensions during the two weeks ended December 8.

Among those whose certificates were revoked for failure to file bond are: W. M. Gormley of Phoenix, and Harvey Solomon of Ellenville.

William T. Harnett of 13 West Strand had his license revoked December 7, on charge of driving a car while intoxicated.

Harold Carl of Woodstock had his license revoked December 8, pending investigation of an accident.

Continue Probe Of Osage Murders

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 8.—New elements of mystery were added today to the federal grand jury investigation of the alleged "murders for millions" in which the government charges that some of the richest Indians in the world would have been slain for their "dead" mites, amounting in the one case under inquiry to $700,000.

Twenty-five of the witnesses called by the government have been discharged and as the hearing continued this morning, it was rumored that there had been some movement to the testimony in the Mollie Burkhart case now under investigation but for the government to let a case on other possible Osage Indian murders.

Witnesses in the last few years have been intimidated, government and state agents have been driven out of the Osage hills by threats and other mysterious murders have often been found slain.

Five witnesses were examined last yesterday. They were relatives of the four Indian women alleged to have been slain.

Albany Holdup Trio Captured At Port Jervis

Investigation of Dodge Sedan Seen in Woods at Shokan Leads to Arrest—Victim Escaped Here And Notified Local Police.

Through the cooperation of the State Troopers of Pennsylvania with the New York state authorities the three men who held up Joseph E. Mulville of 14 Summer street, Albany, Wednesday evening and forced him at the point of a gun to drive them to Kingston where he escaped while they were putting gasoline in the car at the Albany Avenue Garage, were placed under arrest and are now on their way back to Albany. The first notice which was given of the affair was when Mulville reported to the local police that while driving through Albany about midnight Wednesday three men held him up and forced him to drive them to Kingston. While the men were putting five gallons of gasoline in the car on Albany avenue Mulville saw a chance to escape and reported by phone to the local police of the theft of his car.

Sedan Seen at Shokan.

Word was sent out to nearby towns to keep a look out for the Dodge sedan but no further trace of it was found. Thursday the sheriff was notified that a Dodge car occupied by three men had been hiding in the woods at Shokan on Wednesday and Soth Jocelyn was sent out to investigate. From a man at Shokan who had been drawing wood it was learned that a Dodge sedan had been seen in the woods and that he and held conversation with one of the men several times Wednesday. The man inquired about the road to Sandown.

Farmer Noticed They Were Drunk.

The car had run out of gasoline and a gallon of gas was first secured from a pump and the car was driven and pushed off the road into the woods where it remained all day. Later three gallons of gas were secured and next day the car was gone. During the day two of the men were observed about the car in a much intoxicated condition and it was due to their condition that the presence of the car in the woods did not attract the attention of the farmer. He believed that the men had been on a drinking bout and had driven the car in the woods while under the influence of liquor and had remained to sober up before continuing their trip.

Troopers Investigate.

When Sheriff Wells was notified of the facts he immediately notified the State Troopers and Thursday night the troopers visited the section of the county near Sandown under the impression that the car might have been driven there as the men had inquired about roads in that section. When no word was received of a strange car there the Troopers decided to investigate further and the Pennsylvania authorities were notified.

Following The Trail.

Thursday the sheriff traced the car from Shokan to near Stone Ridge where trace was lost. The car was equipped with a new tire of special design which was easily traced in the mud but which was lost when during the night the weather grew colder and the roads froze up so that no trace was left.

It was also learned that a car answering the description of the stolen car was observed after midnight Thursday near Nanapoch where three men were observed in trouble. Two were pushing the car on the grade and the car apparently was not working well.

This morning the State Troopers were notified that the car had crossed the state line at Port Jervis and that the Pennsylvania Troopers had arrested the men and were bringing them back to the New York line. The men have waived extradition and will be met by Sergeant Hopkins at the state line and be taken back to Albany.

Another Man Held Up.

After hearing of the Mulville case Charles McCauley of Troy notified the Troy police that on the same day that Mulville was held up and forced to drive to Kingston, he had also been held up by a similar group of men. He believes they are the same men. After robbing McCauley of his money they decided that his car was not speedy enough and drove him back from Castleton to Troy where they bound and gagged him and then abandoned him on a chair. He freed himself and after hearing of the Mulville affair, called his experience to the police.

HICKS BURIED A ROCK

AGAINST MARY'S TOMB

Charles Hicks, 15 years old, of No. 27 Spruce street the other evening buried a large rock against the tomb of Mary, the sister of St. John the Baptist, in the cemetery at St. John's church, Albany.

He was charged with sacrilege and was held in the city jail. Hicks pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in the city jail. Judge Shufeldt, but sentence was suspended pending the boy's future conduct.

Dance at Port Ewen.

On Monday evening, January 11, there will be a dance at St. Leo's church, Port Ewen, under the auspices of the Holy Name Society.

Great plans have been prepared for this affair and a very pleasant time is expected to be spent by all their many friends.

SUPPORTS FAMILY, EARNS EDUCATION

Pluck of Texas Girl From Age of Twelve Shown in Life Story.

Belton, Texas.—Ten years ago Opal Cade's father, a Texas carpenter-contractor, suffered a serious physical breakdown. Before he had recovered from that his hipbone was broken and he was made a cripple for life. Almost a year he lay in a plaster parik cast and for a long while he was not able to walk, even on crutches.

During all the long months of his illness prior to his almost fatal injury, and throughout the years that have followed, the Cade family have had to make out as best they could. For Mr. Cade was not a wealthy man, and the family was ill prepared for the adversity which befell them. The four children, Opal, Macel, Houston and Edder, were all young, and their mother had to divide her time between her household, her care for her brood, and her care for her stricken husband.

Wanted Education.

Mrs. Cade was anxious that her children go to school, and she told to that end, but when Opal was twelve it seemed that she could be spared no longer. She, with her two younger brothers, had been attending a country school five miles southeast of Belton, in Bell county, where they lived. She was a girl, but she was the eldest, strong and capable for her years, so she went to work in the fields.

It seemed that from the very start Opal was destined to be the mainstay of her family. Overtaxing her strength, perhaps, in her efforts to meet the demands made upon her. Mrs. Cade fell ill. She was not confined to her bed all the time but her health became so poor that she was forced to leave more and more of the household and the work about the farm home to Opal.

When Opal was thirteen her sister Hilby was born. The baby was ill a great deal and frequently Opal found it necessary to sit up most of the night caring for her, or for her mother, or Mr. Cade. But regardless of how long or strenuous the vigil had been, or how sleepy she was, Opal knew that she must be at work the next day, and when the day came she went.

The winter her father was forced to be helpless in the plaster cast proved an extremely hard one for the Cade family. The next spring the children earned money by chopping cotton, and by this time Opal could hold her place beside the best of them.

The next winter the family fared better. With the money the children had earned picking cotton and that they had received from the cotton they sold, they paid their debts and began to make plans for the next year.

The next spring, or when she was only fourteen years old, she undertook the cultivation of a whole 75-acre farm.

Now a Student.

That was four years ago. Opal is now eighteen and a student in Baylor university and she is showing the same energetic determination in her fight to win an education that she did in her fight to arrest a living for herself and her loved ones out of the stumpy soil.

Her entrance upon her life as a student was in every way as dramatic and unusual as her experience on the farm. Interested friends had told her that at Baylor College for Women, in Belton, any girl with pluck and determination could win an education even though without money.

"Then that's where I am going," she said.

Last August she appeared on the campus, announced unobtrusively that she did not have enough money to buy a railroad ticket back home, only 15 miles away, and put in her bid for the first job that presented itself—any kind of a job that would allow her to come to school.

She got a job as a dishwasher. To day she is a full fledged student, and she vows that she will never miss a day until she leaves the campus with a sheepskin under her arm.

For years Baylor college has been noted for the system, begun under the direction of Mrs. Eli Moore Townsend, whereby deserving girls can come and make their way, regardless of handicaps, almost, but at no time has there ever come a girl who has created a profounder impression upon the student body and the college authorities than Opal Cade.

As is to be expected, there are many more applicants than there are possible openings. Herculean efforts are made to help every deserving girl who comes, but the college cannot hope to meet every need. All of the girls, in what is known as the cottage large system, earn a part of their expenses by a self-help or "day" arrangement, but only a very few of them are able to earn even the greater part of their expenses.

Found Every Place Filled. When Opal Cade came and explained her case to the college authorities she was told that every place had been filled. The houses in charge of placement were struck by Opal's enthusiasm and earnestness, and they agreed with deep sympathy to let her stay, but to have given her what she needed would have meant that some other girl must be deprived of a chance. So Opal was reluctantly told that there was no opening.

Pausing long enough to thank the hostess for her courtesy, she turned to Mrs. Ella Y. Ely, one of the ladies in charge of the cottage system, whom she had met since arrival. To Mrs. Ely she poured her whole story all over again. It was evident that instead of sending her back to the farm in disappointment this first disappointment merely strengthened her determination.

"I am going to stay here if I have to sleep on one of the car benches," Opal said.

She had arrived in August, during one of the short between-term vacation periods. Mrs. Ely was then in the midst of a thorough housecleaning. Ely Pepper Hall was being prepared for the girls who were to return within a few days to take up their summer work.

"You see what we are doing," Mrs. Ely said. "Here's a broom and a dust rag and there's a floor mop down the hall. Gather them up and come with me. You may help me here until we have finished our housecleaning. Maybe by that time something will turn up."

Opal did as she was bidden; did it with a vengeance.

And something did turn up. Mrs. Ely found that she could give Opal a six-hour sweeping duty for the five weeks' term, but she could promise nothing after that.

At the end of the five weeks' term the ambitious girl was on the edge of a nervous breakdown, partly because she was unaccustomed to being indoors as much as her new tasks required, and partly because she was worried so much for fear that she would be unable to stay for the fall session. At length she was sent to the hospital for two days, and when she came out she was twelve hours behind with her work. The college physician said that she should rest between terms, but as Opal put it, she "had to catch up."

So she worked twelve hours a day for two days.

Gets Her Chance.

But no guarantee of work for the fall term came. It seemed that nothing would happen. Opal was sent away from the Ely-Pepper hall and out into the town of Belton to the home of Mrs. Ely's sister. It seemed that, try as her friends might, nothing could be done to assure her schooling for the fall term. Her spirits at the lowest possible ebb, Opal was preparing to make the best of the situation when she received a message from the placement hostess to come to her office.

"One of the girls who was to wait tables in the Luther hall dining room has found that she cannot come," the hostess said. "It is a six-hour duty, two every morning, two at noon and two at night. Do you want it?"

She wanted it so much that she almost hugged the hostess. And tradition has it that she actually did go out of that office singing as she went.

Opal is a familiar figure in the dining room. She wears the same smile, she must have worn when her corn was in tassel and everything was going well at the farm. Perhaps the smile is even broader than it was then. If it isn't there is every reason for it to be. She has made friends, not only of her classmates, many of whom doubtless owe their better grades as much to knowledge of the fact that if they do not "muscle" she will excel them, as to their wilful studiousness, but also of the girls whose food she serves.

But even in her present happiness, which, after all, would not constitute happiness for many with less pluck than she, Opal realizes that the road before her is a long one, and that all her problems are not solved. She says that she expects some day to be a foreign missionary, but right now her chief concerns are her work and her studies. She is particularly interested in mathematics and her grades in this subject are particularly good, but she is taking everything required of one who expects to receive the A. B. degree.

"I am going to have that degree some day," she will tell you smilingly, confidently. "I am going to do more than that. I am going to put my little sister through college, too."—New York World.

"Adobe" Comes Back as Building Material

Los Angeles, Cal.—The sun-dried brick is coming back into popular favor in southern California as a material for building purposes.

"Adobe" was used by Franciscan fathers in the building of their missions, and later many homes and commercial structures were erected with this rudely made bricks.

As the years wore on, the ever-adobe fell into disrepute.

"Mission style" homes, churches and business blocks long have been popular in southern California, but until these have been built of brick or frame with a coating of stucco.

Lately, however, the old custom has been revived, and everywhere small homes and ranch houses are being built of adobe. In Los Angeles a number of exclusive residences, whose owners could well afford the most expensive materials, have been fastened of adobe.

January Furs

Clearance

We have been manufacturing furriers for twenty-six years. Fur quality and fur workmanship have been and still remain our sole interest. This store is one result of our interest—an establishment where quality, fashion and value go hand in hand. You can rely upon the furs we sell, for they are backed by twenty-six years' knowledge and experience.

Our fashions are the newest and smartest. To keep them so, we maintain our own style studio which is abreast of Paris and a step ahead of most New York furriers.

COMMISSIONER LIFTS GARDINER QUARANTINE

To the editor of The Freeman.

Sir:

About November 15, 1925, the township of Gardiner, Ulster county, was quarantined. Said quarantine was created by the Department of Farms and Markets through recommendations made by Millard Davis, president of the Accredited Herd Association of Ulster County, who wished to protect its members from an infectious disease known as brucellosis. The herd owners in the town who did not believe in the quarantine and who formed about 47 percent of the dairies of the town got together and organized what is known as the Dairy Industry Association of Gardiner. A protest was sent to the Department of Farms and Markets and Mr. Davis created a hearing on the question on December 21, 1925. At this hearing no substantial evidence was given by the defense, why or for what purpose said quarantines were placed upon our town. On December 22, an order was issued by the commissioner withdrawing the quarantine. We hope soon to see the quarantines taken down but the Dairy Industry Association of Gardiner will live on for an indefinite time. CLAUDE ALSDORE.

Larvae Unhurt by Cold

The bureau of entomology says that well-grown larvae of moths in fur and wool were held in commercial storage at a temperature said to fluctuate between 24 degrees and 45 degrees Fahrenheit, but held mostly at 40 degrees Fahrenheit, and were found to be alive after storage for 6, 8, 10, 11 and 12 months. Larvae in fur helmets placed in storage during February, removed the following December, and held in a steam-heated building, transformed in considerable numbers into active adults by the middle of January. These adults showed no effects of the refrigeration of the larvae from which they had developed, but laid eggs which hatched normally. Refrigeration for six months had no noticeable effect upon the larvae, except to hold them inactive and incapable of causing injury.

Father Kills Entire Family

Thomas King Beaten His Wife and Three Children to Death. Cuts His Throat and Then Turns on the Gas.

New York, Jan. 8.—A family of five was wiped out in Harlem today, in one of the ghastliest crimes in the city's history. The bodies of Thomas King, 26, a chauffeur; his wife, Nora, 28, and their three children were found by police in their apartment at 349 Manhattan avenue.

Mrs. King and three children, the oldest of whom was five, were beaten to death. King's throat was cut and the gas had been turned on.

King had bashed in the heads of the members of his family with a hammer while they slept. He then cut his throat and turned on the gas.

The superintendent of the building where the Kings lived smelled the escaping gas. He found the door leading to the apartment locked. He summoned the police and they broke down the door.

The bodies were found, lying close together, in a single bed. The youngest child, Thomas, one-year-old, lay on the father's arm. The wife lay half propped against the wall, baby Jane, five years old, and Catherine three, besides her.

Police were certain King used a hammer in killing his family although, after some time spent in a search, they couldn't find it. He might have used a baseball bat or a club. The razor or knife which he used in the final act of the tragedy could not be found, either.

A wagon load of policemen and detectives were rushed to the scene. They immediately set to work to learn the motive for the wholesale slaying.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Coterie.

Members of The Coterie will meet Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. L. Eastman, 49 Spring street.

A Birthday Party.

An enjoyable birthday party was held Tuesday evening, January 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wendland, 56 Franklin street, in honor of their daughter's eighteenth birthday. One of the features of the evening was the Freshman Five, an orchestra composed of Kingston High School students, who furnished the music for singing and dancing. The Misses Helen Wolfersteig and Marge Castor favored with a number of vocal solos and an exhibition of the Charleston was given by Miss Elsie Wagner and John Schultz who proved to be real entertainers. Games, dancing and singing were enjoyed until a late hour. Midnight fireworks were ushered into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being yellow and white, and a beautiful supper was served by Mrs. Joseph Wendland assisted by Mrs. J. C. Dirlam and Mrs. Kelly. Miss Wendland was the recipient of many handsome gifts and at a late hour the guests departed vowing her a royal entertainer and wishing her many more happy birthdays. Those present were the Misses Marge Castor, Frances Post, Elsie Wendland, Violet Cutler, Elsie Wagner, Clara Koch, Margaret Keaton, Mildred Warner, Lorella Wendland, Helen Wolfersteig and the Messrs. FACTS ABOUT FRANCE

According to the figures of the National Institute of Economics at Washington, the debt of the French Republic is about $22,000,000,000 (eight billions deadweight foreign debt), as against our Federal debt of about twenty billions, all domestic, and at present the French people are paying at least 20 per cent. of the national income in taxes, as against 18.5 per cent. for the British people and 11.5 per cent. for the people of the United States; whereas the national income per capita in France is only $195, as against $335 in Britain and $605 in the United States. The debt of Italy to France is about one-half the debt of France to the United States, but Italy has not paid one lira to France in its hope of need although paying the United States on extra liberal terms.

Such is the financial situation of France, after being the battlefield of the World War with the loss of 1,600,000 of her sons and the devastation of a vast section of her territory. It was a pan-German boast after the war that, though Germany had lost on the battlefield, France could never recover from the strain and her economic ruin could be brought about through enemies in America. It begins to look as if propaganda from this source has definitely triumphed, for the current and widely believed misstatements about France's finances and prosperity are amazing and there is denunciation of every sort. Another difficulty faced by France is that there is practically no French vote in this country to invite the sympathy of our politicians. Representative Andrews pointedly says that there is now no popularity to be gained either by politicians or newspapers in stating the real facts about France. Yet a lamentable tragedy threatens, the disappearance of France as a great nation—partly through the exigencies of American politics—although the world, and this country in particular, owes a great debt to the French people.

CZAR'S DAUGHTER SAVED?

It is rumored that a patient in a Berlin sanitarium is the Grand Duchess Anastasia, youngest daughter of Czar Nicholas II. The story goes that she escaped the fate that overtook the rest of her family in the cellar of the Ipatiev house at Ekaterinburg in July, 1918, that the revolver shots of the executioners did not cause her death, that a young Pole in the employ of the local Soviet picked up her body, discovered faint traces of life and in some way succeeded in restoring her and smuggling her out of the country. According to the official Soviet version of the execution of the Romanoffs, made public in July, 1923, not even the family physician and the German governess were spared and after the bloody work the bodies of the victims were stripped and burned.

That one of the Czar's own daughters could have been overlooked is manifestly incredible. The introduction of a heretic "young Pole," even if no miracle had been attributed to him, would suggest romance of the well known and acceptable order. Moreover, this same Grand Duchess Anastasia, according to rumor of last April, was then a patient in a Vienna hospital. Vanished royalty has always bred the imagination of the myth-makers and no doubt will continue to do so. A playboy world would like to think that some representative of the ill-fated family of the Czar escaped from the bloody cellar in Ekaterinburg, but there is every reason to believe that the grisly official murder was altogether complete.

Newspaper comment, both in this country and Great Britain, has been to the effect that within four years America will pay Great Britain $1,000,000,000 for rubber, at prices fixed by the British rubber monopolies. It is a good reason for us as to the reality of the rubber monopolies against the French monopolies. During the World War, if it had not been for the rubber monopolies, we would have been in much the same position as to sugar. It is better to give reasonable protection and encouragement to hard American industries than to find ourselves at the mercy of a foreign power when buying essential commodities. Sugar is even more important than rubber. The American people are the greatest sugar eaters on earth and it forms part of every meal of every American family. For that reason it is essential that our domestic sugar industry be kept on a safe base, which will prevent it from being crippled or destroyed by foreign interests.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

HOLDING THE HEAT.

When you have worked so hard physically that the perspiration has poured forth from your skin, you have realized that this perspiration was Nature's method of getting rid of the heat for you. The liquid portion of the blood gets up towards the surface of the body away from the internal organs. Two research men at the University of Louisville, have been working upon the effects of cold upon the blood. They find that when cold is applied to the body, the tissues of the cooled surfaces contain more moisture than those of the uncooled. According to their investigations the fluid part of the blood, in trying to protect the body from the cold, goes to the cooled skin, to the tissues immediately below the skin, and to the muscles; in other words to the outer tissues that cover the body.

These tissues then are thus carrying a great deal of moisture, and so the blood stream going through these tissues is slowed up to some extent, and of course retains the heat. The other interesting thing is that with more water in the tissues at the surface of the outside of the body, it is like a sort of insulating layer. In other words something like the vacuum or thermos bottle which, with its chamber of air between two surfaces, keeps the contents of the bottle in its original state of being hot or cold. Thus in the cool weather when you want plenty of heat inside your body to keep everything working well, Nature adopts this method of taking fluid from the blood and having your outer tissues hold it. In the hot weather, the heated blood goes to the surface, but the fluid part of the skin, and thus the body is cooled off by this, and by evaporation into the surrounding air. When you think of these wonderful things that are being done for you, you may perhaps think that Nature can run her own job without your help. That's true to a certain extent, but perhaps you forget about the hindrances you put in her way by thoughtlessness, or even carelessness.

Tell Tales About Their Ancestors

Members of Witwyck Chapter, D. A. R., Entertain With Interesting Stories of the Long Ago—Delegates and Alternates to Continental Congress Elected.

The January meeting of Witwyck Chapter, D. A. R., which was held on Thursday afternoon at the Chapter House was very largely attended. The regent, Mrs. T. D. Lewis, extended the greetings of the New Year to the chapter members, and New Year's greetings were also received from President General Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook and State Regent Mrs. Frances Tupper Nash.

One new member, Dr. Katherine Todd, was received into the chapter. Mrs. Vetter and Mrs. Davis of Catskill resigned from Witwyck Chapter to become members at large in order to form a new chapter of thirty members at Catskill.

The chapter voted to purchase a copy of Washington's prayer illuminated by Beatrice Spotts Griffiths, sent out by the rector of the Washington Memorial Church of Valley Forge.

Delegates to the coming Continental Congress were elected as follows, in addition to the regents representing the chapter: Mrs. E. G. Adams and Mrs. Augustus Van Duren; alternates, the Misses Sarah and Minnie Milward, Miss Dorothy Oliver and Mrs. G. N. Wood.

The program for the afternoon was opened with two delightful piano solos admirably played by Miss Helen G. Smith, a student from New England Conservatory of Music. Miss Smith played Preludium, by Edward MacDowell, and Valse, Taus Humoresque, by Chopin. The other part of the program was unique and proved to be exceedingly interesting. Several members of the chapter gave reminiscences from the lives of their ancestors, beginning with Mrs. Kenyon who told of one of her forefathers, the Rev. Johannes Sheenman, a forceful and patriotic preacher. Mr. Duncan Lawrence gave an interesting account of the Dimmick family, including Strubel Dimmick. Another very worthwhile ancestor of Miss Baker's was Captain Henry Pawling of Marblehead, who was a member of the expedition of the Duke of York. He was a personal friend of William Penn and through the latter had a share in the grant of land which now is the city of Pennsylvania. Mrs. C. Victor Livingston entertained her associates with her recital about her great grandmother, Leah DuBois. Mrs. Fessenden's ancestor held up to fame was Richard Everett of Dedham, Mass. An ancestor of particular interest was introduced by Mrs. McCommons, one Rene Cossett who was given a grant from the English possessions of the copper mines of East Granby, Conn. From the copper mined here, the first pennies circulated in the colonies were made. Mrs. W. R. Anderson also had interesting ancestors by name, Abram Cuddeback and the Conklin family. At the close of the program, delicious refreshments were served, the hostesses being Mrs. Adams and Mrs. V. B. Van Wageningen.

150 YEARS AGO

The Origin of the U. S. A.

By Jonathan A. Rawson, Jr.

WORK AND PLAY GET MIXED.

Time dragged heavily on the British soldiers who were in Boston 150 years ago. "Cooped up by a set of dirty ragamuffins," according to one of their new officers. It was a good joke, this description of the stage, to all except the beleaguered Britishers. They would not have taken it so kindly if anyone else had told them that the King's crack soldiers could be cooped up by ragamuffins. However, there they were, shut in tight, and too closely observed for their own comfort by Washington's sentries from the breastworks behind which was the American camp.

To drive dull care away, at least for one evening, the redcoat officers staged amateur theatricals, naming their play "The Blockade of Boston."

The first performance was set for January 8—150 years ago today, and it opened according to schedule. It was a burlesque and the funny parts were played by impersonations of Yankee rebels. In the midst of one scene one of the actors rushed on the stage shouting—"The Rebels are bombarding!"

Laughter and applause from the audience. Well, acted, and a good joke thought they. But the actor seemed very much in earnest. And, sure enough, when the laughter ceased the sound of cannon in action could be plainly heard. Nor was it the kind of cannon thunder that is manufactured behind the scenes, Grand rush for the exits. No requests for return checks. That was the end of the show. What had happened was that, probably by the mere chance, the star villain had picked that particular evening to destroy a few houses on Charlestown Neck which were occupied by British soldiers, and that the British had opened up on the Americans' raiding party with cannon in less than an hour 100 Americans had burned ten houses and returned to camp, unharmed by the enemy artillery. So it had been planned that had broken up the play comedy into a real one. Charles Town Neck, where the houses were burned, had been the Bunker Hill battlefield. Cannonading from that direction would at no time bring pleasure to the redcoats. Nor was so when it came just at the right moment to spoil what may have been their one theatrical act of the entire season. (Copyright, 1925, by The Futurist Syndicate.)

SET OF BOXES USEFUL FOR STORING FOOD

Racks for Pot Lids and Pans, Also Tin Cans Painted and Labeled.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

All sorts of different cans and tin boxes in which supplies have been bought, such as coffee tins, cracker boxes, lard cans and the like, may be pressed into service for storing food materials if they have good, tight lids. When painted white or in some color harmonizing with the kitchen, and marked plainly, they serve one's purpose, which is to keep out insects and dirt and prevent spoilage, just as well as the more expensive boxes sold in sets. Farmers' Bulletin 1274, "Care of Food in the Home," gives directions for the proper storage of all the common kinds of food, particularly recommending that cereals, coffee, tea, sugar, baking powder, flour, and other dry materials be kept in clean, tightly covered containers. This bulletin can be obtained by sending to the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

REQUIRED FOOD FOR GROWING CHILDREN

Protein and Mineral Matters Most Important.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In order that children may be strong and well, their food must meet three kinds of body needs, points out the United States Department of Agriculture. First, it must provide the materials necessary for building and repairing all the different parts of the body; second, it must furnish energy or fuel for the work of the muscles; and third, it must serve to regulate the intricate chemical changes on which health and growth depend. The principal building materials are protein, which forms the basis of all the tissues, and mineral matters, such as iron, lime and phosphorus, which are found in different parts of the body. Protein supplies energy as well as building material but the greater part of the energy of the ordinary diet comes from starch, sugar and fat. Among the substances that regulate the chemical changes by which the body grows and functions are some of the mineral matters and the so-called vitamins. Although vitamins have been only recently discovered and are not yet thoroughly understood, it is believed that three of them, known as vitamins A, B and C, are necessary to health and growth, and that a lack of them may lead to underdevelopment or to such diseases as rickets and scurvy.

EITHER SWEET OR SOUR MILK USEFUL

Housekeeper May Substitute One for the Other.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Here's a recipe for griddle cakes, but it calls for sour milk, and I have only sweet," or, "I'd make some gingerbread with that sour milk if I only had a recipe, but this book gives a sweet-milk gingerbread." Here often is the housekeeper confronted with one or the other of these dilemmas. Perhaps she does not know that she can easily substitute sour milk and soda for sweet milk and baking powder, or vice versa. The United States Department of Agriculture tells her exactly how to do it in Farmers' Bulletin 1450, "Baking in the Home."

When proportions are given in terms of sweet milk and baking powder, an equal quantity of sour milk may be substituted, and enough soda used to neutralize the acid, or a scant half teaspoonful for each cupful of sour milk. In the case of thin batters the soda and sour milk generally furnish enough leavening, but for thick batters or doughs baking powder is usually needed in addition. For instance, in griddle cakes, one cupful of baking powder may be replaced by one cupful of sour milk, and a scant half teaspoonful of soda. This quantity of soda is not only right for the sour milk, but with the milk it is approximately equivalent in leavening power to the two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. For biscuits, which call for one cupful of milk and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, it is one cupful of sour milk and a scant half teaspoonful of soda, and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder would be needed also to be equivalent to the above quantity of baking powder.

When sweet milk is to be used in place of sour, baking powder is substituted for all of the soda in the proportion of four teaspoonfuls of baking powder for one teaspoonful of soda. If no other acid ingredient, such as molasses or sour, is used, it is in gingerbread, where soda is required.

Vegetables and fruits furnish a little protein and some yield fair amounts of iron, but they are particularly valuable sources of the necessary min-

Baby's face and back covered with eczema.

Resinol stopped itching quickly and healed skin.

Salem, Va., Feb. 5.—"I am writing to tell you of the wonderful benefit Resinol has been to my baby who had a bad case of eczema. The skin on her face and back was very red at first, and in a few days broke out in little blisters. The itching was awful and made the child very cross. I tried one preparation that had been highly recommended, but it did her no good. I then bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap and the itching stopped after the first treatment. In a few days the red look was gone and in a very short time the cure was complete. I shall always keep a jar of Resinol in my home!" (Signed) Mrs. L. J. Carter, 144 Union St.

Don Had Remembered Robin Hood Stories

Don and mother went with grandfather to a neighboring town, where grandfather was to preach. After the services a stranger kindly invited them to dine with her at the inn. They accepted, and were just finishing dinner when the hostess turned to Don and asked if he had had all he wanted. "No," was the prompt reply. And when questioned further, announced he wished a pot of ale.

His amazed mother asked what he meant, well knowing the child did not know what ale meant.

"Isn't this an inn?" asked the child. And when mother said it was, he replied, "When Robin Hood's men went to an inn they always asked for a pot of ale."

Distressing Feature

Mrs. M. C. Van Winkle, chief of the women's division of the Washington police department, said the other day: "My experience leads me to think that boys are growing better, while girls are growing worse. A distressing feature of the thing is that the more 'modern' a girl is—the worse she is. I mean, from the conservative viewpoint—the greater her success."

"A modern girl got married not long ago to one of the richest and finest men in the country. A friend of mine made a neat comment on the match. 'When girls are overbold,' she said, 'men are bowled over.'"

Fish Holds to Weeds

The Sargasso fish, which sometimes reaches three inches in length, is found exclusively among the gulfs. As a result of its continued life among the branches of the seaweed, the breast fins have developed into arm-like limbs, between which the animal can grasp and hold onto friends of the weed.

Pilgrims' Tunes

"The History of American Music" says that the Pilgrims used but five tunes for their psalmody. What those tunes were has not been proved. "Old Hundred" and "Lark" were two of them; "Hickory," sometimes called "St. Mary's," "Widow" and "Mar Yrs" were probably the other three.

Farm and Home Bureau Meeting

First Joint Meeting of the Farm and Home Bureau Will Be Held at Walkkill on Monday at 10 O'clock. Joint meetings of the Farm and Home Bureau for the months of January, February and March will start off in full swing next week with the first meeting at Walkkill on Monday. The meeting is called at 10 o'clock at the Walkkill Community Hall.

F. M. Wigsten, Farm Bureau manager, has secured Prof. John Barron of Cornell for this meeting. He will talk on the growing of clover and alfalfa and the uses of lime and fertilizer.

The Home Bureau will be there with a big feed—all the hot, savory dishes that appeal to the appetites of hungry men, and served up in apple pie order, as is the fashion of Home Bureau units throughout Ulster county.

Miss Evelyn Nance, Home Bureau manager, will be present with a set of slides with which she will give an illustrated talk on the subject "Food Makes a Difference."

This is to be one of the big meetings of the year and a bumper crowd is expected out to take advantage of the good things offered. Other meetings in the county will be announced from time to time.

Nutty Natural History

By HUGH HUTTON.

THE GREAT PURPLE POLLY-TIK.

The polly-tik, or loud mouth parrot, is a native of the plum-tree forests of the far east, north, south and west, multiplying enormously in the fall every four years. It can easily be taught clever words and phrases, and the increasing talkativeness of the female polly-tik of late has attracted much attention. It is becoming scarce and dumb, and the bark on trees of the birds has almost grown from disuse. However, the individual shown here is very proud of his beak and still swears by it.

As he appears here seated on a nut box, he sports a peanut head and a flibbert body, with split navy bean eyes and a large clove crest. Both the tail and the feet are split almond kernels and the legs are formed of cloves. The stripes are attached with paint and brush, and are supposed to be purple and gold. (Metropolitan Newspaper Service.) Tomorrow—The Freckled Caprine.

"They Are Wearing"

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Gray is seen in several types of furs. The most notable of these was a straightline coat of pearl gray ermine horizontally worked with collar, cuffs and border of matching fox.

Fine furs prevailed one afternoon at the tea hour at the Plaza, where many minks were noted. Irene Bordoni wore one of rare eastern quality. The skins were so manipulated as to taper up to the neckline, almost to the stripe, which effect, added to by the raglan cut sleeves, created the appearance of a yoke. The coat was topped by a rolling shawl collar, while the sleeves were bell-like.

A cuff-shaped muff reveals a snap or slit in which cosmetics are carried. The novelty was introduced by Mary Brian. Paramount player.

Gilda Gray's stormy weather coat is designed by Lelong of rubberized coral taffeta, with a detachable wool lining. A shaped flounce and strapped cuffs and collar are other features.

The tightest little skull caps that almost make one wonder how they can be worn with comfort. One was seen on a very smart young girl the other day on the avenue. It was fashioned of tan felt, cut up in a very novel way at the side and in just a simple dropped rounded effect on the opposite side. Through a slash in the side the trim of a little gold metal feather was placed. (Fairchild Fashion Service.)

Scarf Always Gay Fashion Favorite

Popular Accessory Works an Utter Transformation When Needed.

Scarves are no longer a fad, but an established fashion. They go on from one season to another, and are used over and over more extensively. The reason for this is that there are so many practical reasons to justify the scarf's existence, that the mere breath of fashion's whim has very little to do with it. Not always is it possible to have as many new gowns as one would like to have, then, what is more reassuring than many new ways of accenting those we have? At least one always can manage to give them colorful contrast, whatever the limitations of the purse. And the scarf works an utter transformation when used in this connection. Throw a brightly decorative scarf over the shoulders of a somber dress, observes a fashion writer in the Kansas City Star, and it becomes positively gay, and the aprils gay with it! In the same way, if the dress donned to wear to dinner at night seems a bit uncomfortably dressy for the necessary errands downtown before going to dinner at the restaurant, simply choose the suitable scarf to go with it, and presto, the costume is at once properly subdued.

As a matter of fact scarves seldom have been absent very long from the mode. In one version or another they have been worn throughout the ages, so much that they are associated inseparably with feminine grace and feminine poise. It has often been said that "the way a woman drapes a scarf about her shoulders is the surest test of her ability to wear clothes."

Of course, the real reason for the scarf's being is the infinite possibilities it affords for us to indulge the love for gay color. Another recommendation for it lies in its infinite versatility, and in wearing it. Like the evening wrap, it never looks quite the same, nor ever the same on two persons, because it is draped to suit the wearer. Many smart elderly women, desirous of covering the neckline, which has no scruples against giving age secrets away, like to wear a chiffon scarf draped loosely or tied tightly about the throat.

Infinite are the varieties of the scarf. There is the length of chiffon, with one end caught exquisitely to the shoulder; or free, with the arrangement left wholly to the wearer; tulle to be worn with the evening gown; the length of bizarre and colorful silk or printed crepe for sports and street suits; and the woolen scarf usually kept for actual sports or motoring.

Conventional Tailored Suit Is to Hold Favor

A certain sign that the conventional tailored suit will continue to be worn is the appearance of many novelties in dainty guimpes, waistcoats, undersleeves and jabots. The waistcoats are made of silk, of linen or cloth, sometimes embroidered and fitted. They are made also like guimpes of net with ribbon straps over the shoulder, and a "rest" of lace. A different sort of guimpe is one that supplies a poke with standing collar or jabot of lace. The undersleeves are new this season, full "bishop" shape, of net and lace, gathered into a narrow band at the wrist. A few of these are shown with a little ribbon at the hand, tied around the wrist, or just a small bow at the back of the sleeve; new and very dainty.

Earrings Long, Larger; Opal Among Favorites

Earrings are longer and larger than ever, if possible. The latest almost touch the shoulder. Exceptionally beautiful things are among the late exhibitions. In one pair a ring of white jade hangs from a string of brilliant and onyx. Topaz and brilliant are linked together in another charming example. Onyx and crystal is an ever-favorite combination, particularly with women who frequently wear black and white. The newest and most fashionable of all things in jewelry is the opal. Superstition has evidently faded away as it is powerless to cast it out of favor. Superb ornaments, brooches, pendants, bracelets and earrings of both oriental and Mexican equals shown by some jewelers are finding favor with ultra smart women.

Over 17 Million Jars Used Truly

That the Gray Tailored Suit of Mannish Material is Important for Spring.

All over Europe the importance of the gray tailored suit is evidenced. It may be supplemented by a topcoat, which is, of course, now necessary, but it seems no exaggeration to state that practically every well costumed woman boasts at least one tailored, usually gray. This, however, is the only justification one finds here of the reported craze for gray in America. One would really have to hunt for a gray dress, bold de rose and all tan shades being preferred.

The gray tailored suit, though, is important, particularly when the fabric has been purchased, or appears to have been purchased from a men's tailor. In nearly every instance the surface of these fabrics has a design, in duotone or resulting from the weave. It may be most inconspicuous, but the smartest tailleurs show only such fabrics.

Many of the best looking suits are double breasted, and all have that carefully fitted look which is, on the contrary, the result of only the most perfect tailoring. They give the figure a look of great flexibility for all their man material and man tailoring.

Jackets' lengths, of course, vary. Some women like the three-quarter coat, which may be pressed into service as a topcoat, but the preference is, however, for waist lengths or shorter, and while there may be contrary opinions about double breasted effects with plain notched collars, Molyneux has been successful with such a suit, worn at the Ritz yesterday in navy and with a navy red and yellow silk bandana muffer. It justified its success. (Copyright, 1925, Fairchild.)

More Deaths Due To Alcoholism

November Statistics of State Department of Health Show Deaths From That Cause on November More Numerous Than in Any of Past War Years.

Albany, Jan. 8.—During November the health situation in New York state was normal according to the figures just made available by Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., state commissioner of health. Although there was a slight increase in the general death rate the mortality from certain preventable diseases was exceptionally low: Diphtheria, scarlet fever, and diarrhea under two years of age never in proportion to the size of the population showed fewer deaths. The death rate from whooping cough was lower only once.

There was a slight increase in mortality from influenza and pneumonia and the rate for diabetes and all forms of tuberculosis was higher than in the preceding two years. Deaths from alcoholism were more numerous than in any of the post-war years and the mortality from heart disease continued to rise.

The volume of sickness as indicated by the total number of cases of reportable diseases was below the November average for the past five years. Deserving of special mention is the sustained decline in the cases of diphtheria. For the first time since this disease was made reportable, the number of registered cases was less than one thousand—but half of the total only three years ago. On the other hand, more than 3,000 cases of measles were reported from various sections of the state. There was a marked falling off, however, in the number of cases of influenza, pneumonia, scarlet fever and tuberculosis. Only one case of smallpox was recorded as against 156 in November, 1924.

CHAMPION SWIMMERS SET NEW RECORDS

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 8.—Johnny Weissmuller, Arne Borg and Ethel Lackie, holders of world swimming records, have done it again.

Weissmuller today owns a brand new record for the 220 yards, after swimming that distance in 2:10 2-5, beating his own record of 2:14. Borg broke Weissmuller's 440 yard record and the new time stands at 4:47 1-5. Also Lackie broke her own record of 1:03 1-5 for the 100 yard sprint by doing it in 1:02 4-5.

These new records were hung up last night at the Illinois Athletic Club open swimming meet here. All three are members of the I. A. C.

LIGHTWEIGHT PROGRAM TONIGHT AT MADISON

New York, Jan. 8.—With the development of a title contender as expected, Tex Rickard will present an all-lightweight program at Madison Square Garden tonight, Sid Terris, of New York and Lucien Vincz, of France, the European champion, boxing in the feature bout.

Terris generally was favored to win in spite of reported injuries to his right hand.

Joe Glick, who won from Honeyboy Finnegan, and Danny Kramer, of Philadelphia, will meet in the semi-final, while Harry Felix will face Luis Vicentini, of Chile, in the third feature match.

RUMORS OF EDDIE ROUSH DEAL REVIVED

New York, Jan. 8.—Rumors of a deal between the New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds, involving Eddie Roush, again were active today as a result of a surprise visit by John McGraw, who returned to New York from Sarasota, Fla. McGraw added to the mystery by denying himself to newspapermen.

The names of Bill Terry, first baseman for whom the Reds once were said to have offered $50,000; Billy Southworth, outfielder, and a pitcher were mentioned in connection with the alleged deal.

Museum Gets General Miles' Indian Relics

New York.—The Museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation, has just received a gift of the remarkable collection of Indian war relics gathered by the late Gen. Nelson A. Miles, famous Indian fighter and a member of the United States army during the Spanish-American war. It contains several objects of great historical value, including the guns of the warriors Sitting Bull, Geronimo, Red Jacket and Chief Joseph. The collection was presented to the institution by the daughter and son of the general, Mrs. Samuel K. Beher and Maj. Sherman Miles, U. S. A. From the museum's standpoint the gathering forms a precious record of Indian life during one of the most sensational epochs in American Indian affairs.

General Miles fought the Indians from the '60s to the early '90s and found an opportunity to gather many Indian objects from the Great Apache, Navajo, Cheyenne and other tribes.

Boiler Blast Kills

Panama, Fla.—Five men were killed and three were seriously injured in the explosion of a boiler of a small steamer at Panama, Fla. The dead include E. F. Crowl, forty-five, of Seattle, Fla., owner of the ship. The cause of the explosion has not yet been ascertained.

In the JUNGLE

With Cheerups and the Quixies
by Grace Bliss Stewart

ABOUT THE TABBIES

"THERE, puss: here, puss: here, puss!" called Cheerups in his gentlest voice.

"Purring your pardon, sir," purred the animal addressed. "I'm not exactly what you think, and yet in a way I am. That sounds like talking in riddles, doesn't it? Perhaps I have caught the habit from the Sphinx; you see, I live in Egypt. Only the Sphinx never explains and I will—

"Please do," cried the astonished Cheerups, as he looked curiously at the visitor. She was a little larger than one of our North American cats, of a grayish-yellow color with a few dark stripes on her back, and her tail was ringed about and tipped with black.

"Well," continued Puss, "it's very probable that the ancestor of all the pet cats in the world was like me."

Some folks call it taking a cat nap. Let me see, where was I?

"You were telling how the Egyptian people of long ago worshiped the cat," said Cheerups. "It seems to me that those cats had a very easy time—all play and no work."

"I was just getting to that," mewed Tabby a little fretfully. "Don't jump at conclusions. Even if they were worshipped and buried in the tombs of kings, cats were expected to be useful, as it's my opinion that every one should be."

"Only a few can be beautiful. But all can be useful and dutiful."

is my motto, sir, and Egyptian cats in the long ago had to live up to it, too. There is a picture, thousands of years old, in the British museum in London, which shows a hunter out in a boat, hunting water birds. His pet cat is with him, looking very serious, for she is the most important member of the party. Yes, sir, that grandmother of all pet cats is shown bringing back to her master the birds she has caught. She holds them in her mouth and her paws. That's the story the picture tells, and if you don't call that work," said Tabby, with a proud little whirry purr. "Just try catching a bird yourself some time. Now if I may wash my face and paws before going, I think I had better be scampering along."

"Certainly, Tabby, make yourself at home," smiled Cheerups. "And thanks for your interesting tale."

"Dear me," sighed Cheerups, "all this talk about Egypt and India and England makes me restless. How jolly it would be to begin traveling again! I wonder what the Quixies would say to it?"

"Oh, sir," gasped the Quixies in one breath, "how wonderful! We are aching to be off!"

"I say, let's go to India," chattered Softfoot.

"Japan would be nice," murmured Sniffniff.

"China is better," coaxed Quickear.

"I think Australia would be more exciting, because we don't know much about it," piped Brighteyes.

"Brighteyes is right; we'll go to Australia!" cried Cheerups, "and let's go now!"

With that he jumped on a flying leaf and soared away over the still green jungle. Shouting with glee, each of the frisky little Quixies snatched a convenient breeze and followed.

"Isn't this fun?" called Cheerups merrily. "We shall certainly broaden our acquaintance, and perhaps there will be folks in Australia who need help too!"

(By Little, Brown & Co.)

"My Family Has Lived in Egypt for Five Thousand Years."

for my family has lived in Egypt for five thousand years."

"Bless me," gasped Cheerups. "Think of that, Miss—"

"Call me Tabby, please; it's shorter and more friendly. Now you may think that what I have told you is wonderful, but the best part is coming," said Tabby proudly. "Just listen to this: Long, long ago, the people of Egypt worshipped us. We are wild now, but then they tamed us, petted us and showed us every honor, and to kill a cat was a very great crime. Whoever did so was severely punished."

"Please," cried disappointed Cheerups, "isn't there any more?" He was eager by this time for the rest of Tabby's story that he could hardly wait.

"Do excuse me, sir," murmured Tabby, winking and blinking sleepily. "I just dropped off for a minute."

Four Gold Medals For Foreign DX

Radio Manufacturers' Show Association Also To Honor Winners at National Exposition—Radio Owners Preparing for International Tests.

Radio fans throughout the North American continent are "clearing for action" according to G. Clayton Irwin, Jr., general manager of the national shows under the auspices of the Radio Manufacturers' Association. He calls attention to the erection of new aerials, the purchase of new tubes and batteries, and a general "dusting up" of receivers, in preparation for the international broadcast tests January 24-30.

A vast proportion of the added interest, believes Mr. Irwin, "may be attributed to the increased number of people who will be listening in Santa Claus left radio sets in many homes and naturally the proud owners are anxious to 'step out' from the standpoint of long distance reception, and they are eagerly awaiting the crucial test."

"Several million others, veterans of one or more of the previous international tests, have every expectation of improving their records, hearing Europe if never before, in most instances, in view of the fact that the various broadcasters will be on higher power and the occurrence of the transatlantic programs at a period of the year when atmospheric conditions are presumed to be ideal."

In order to give further encouragement to the radio fans, Mr. Irwin announces the award of four prizes in connection with International Radio Week.

"The Radio World's Fair will award two gold medals for exceptional records during this week," he states. "These medals will go to fans living within 250 miles of New York city, where the fair is held annually. The winners will be those who send to the headquarters, 1475 Broadway, the best reports of their success in hearing European stations during these tests. The medals will be presented at the Radio World's Fair in September."

Two medals will be awarded to fans living within a 250 mile radius of Chicago and will be presented at the Chicago Radio Show in October. "In each instance, one medal will go to the fan making the best record on a set made by an American manufacturer and the other to the owner of a home made set. Therefore competitors should specify what equipment they are using."

PORT WILL ATTEND BUTTERS CONFERENCE

Christian Port of 101 Hong Street, Kingston High School student, left for Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., this morning where he will attend the Rutgers Inter-scholastic Debating Association conference as the local high school representative.

This conference which will convene Saturday morning will be attended by a large number of other high school students from New York and New Jersey. Each school may send as many delegates to the convention as it pleases but the association will pay the expenses of only one official delegate from each school. Port is the only K. H. S. student attending the conference.

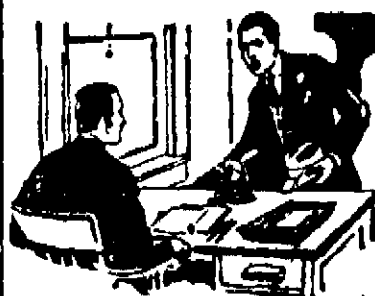

A business session occupies the whole of the morning, Saturday, and a constructive program of speech or dramatization in the afternoon. A dinner is served at noon to all the delegates.

President John Thomas of Rutgers University will be the main speaker of the conference and will address the body at the afternoon session.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 8.—The character of the speculative markets today was very little changed from that of the four previous sessions of the week. Professional activities dominated the stock market, and, save for a half-hearted attack on stock values in the first period, the effect of the higher discount rate passed unnoticed in speculative circles.

Concentrating their attacks on United States Steel in the fourth hour, the bears forced a recession from 127 to 125 1/2. Other highly priced speculative leaders showed better resistance, and followed the early reactions with brisk recoveries.

The railroad stocks were inactive and featureless, as were the copper, equipment, independent steel, mercantile stocks and specialties.

High production reports for 1925 failed to stimulate buying of the motor stocks, few of which were able to throw off the reactionary trend of the first hour. Good buying of a few of the car and locomotive company stocks was based on announcements of a good volume of newly placed orders.

Scolding of Girl

Has Tragic Sequel

New Bedford, Mass.—Parental chastisement brought about a tragedy in the home of Joseph Nunes, when his daughter Adeline threw herself from a third-story window, sustaining injuries that will probably result fatally.

Adeline, a sixteen-year-old girl, had ambitions to go upon the stage, and recently her father learned that she had written a letter to the manager of the Colonial theater, asking for an engagement as a Spanish dancer. She enclosed a photograph of herself. The letter was later secured by the police.

According to Joseph Santos, an adopted son, Nunes, when he learned of his daughter's action, started to punish her. The irate parent was restrained by Joseph and others in the family, and during the struggle the girl made her escape and ran out of the first floor tenement where the Nunes live. It was thought that she had taken refuge in the home of a married sister who lives a short distance from the house.

A few minutes later, however, Nunes and the members of his family saw something flash by the window of the room where they were, and heard a thud upon the pavement. They rushed to the door where they were met by Manuel Cordoba and William Brown, who had picked up the girl as she lay in a crumpled heap on the sidewalk.

An examination at St. Luke's hospital showed that Miss Nunes' back was broken and little hope is held out for her recovery.

INDIANS BURY

BABIES ALIVE

Inter New-Born With Their Dead Mothers.

Philadelphia.—Babies are buried alive in this civilized and Christian country of America. Such is the savage custom of the Pima Indians of Arizona. Dr. Dick Lay, Presbyterian missionary to the aboriginal tribes of America, declared in an account of his work given at the Arch Street Presbyterian church.

Lay has converted to Christianity a majority of the tribe during the many years of his stay at Sacaton, Ariz., and has conducted an Indian church, which is the largest native American church in the country.

"It was only last year that I came upon a frightful case, where the child of a dead mother was buried alive by some of the Pima Indians," he said. "It is a savage custom to bury the newborn child in the arms of the mother who has died at its birth. We are endeavoring to substitute gentler ideas for the primitive ones of the savages through inculcating the beliefs of Christianity."

"The Pima Indians ever have been great friends of the white man. When Columbus came over they promised to be friends to our forefathers. The first settlers promised to be friends to them. The Pimas kept their promise. We broke our promise."

Beats Man He Finds With

Wife in Movie Theater

Milwaukee.—An unbridled dramatic climax of fists and another man's wife shunted the thrilling scenes of a moving picture into the background at a theater here.

A husband landed four punches on the jaw of his wife's escort, calmly called for order, apologized for the disturbance and announced that he had just hit a man whom he had caught out with his wife.

George M. Cusker, professor of dancing, and Mrs. Otto M. Mommson were leaving when Otto M. Mommson's fists started to fly.

As an uproar started in the audience, the husband declared: "Ladies and gentlemen, quiet please. This is not an act of rowdiness. I have just found this man with my wife and struck him. The man's name is George M. Cusker."

Applause followed each announcement, and Mommson left the theater.

Stovepipe Violin's Tone

Same as From "Strad"

Holyoke, Mass.—A unique musical instrument has just been completed by Joseph Sener. It is a metal violin, made of an old stovepipe and various other odds and ends. It has a hump, bridge, steel strings and a bow form from the cane of an old chair seat, and yet it is difficult to distinguish its tone from that of an ordinary violin.

Train Kills

Chicago.—Julius Sengsteden, forty-four, 725 South Michigan avenue, a painter, was killed instantly when he attempted to cross the Union railroad tracks at Stewart avenue and West Fifty-seventh street and was struck by a passenger train.

London.—A day in the 1660s social life state as pictured by George Bernard Shaw. Four hours' work, eight hours' sleep, four hours for drinking, dressing and undressing; eight hours' leisure.

Flowers for Perfumes

A report from Grasse in southern France states that the following flowers are most largely grown for the manufacture of perfumes: Violet, orchid, jessamine, mimosa, rose, orange, geranium, ylang-ylang and carnation.

Now Uses Gas to Melt the Metal

For many years The Freeman press department has been using coal on its stereotype metal melting pot from which is obtained the metal to cast the forms of the newspaper each evening, but following the addition of thoroughly modern and up-to-date equipment throughout the entire building, it was decided to adopt the use of gas in heating the metal and get in touch with the Kingston Gas & Electric Company, who have just installed the "Sulfur" Combustion Company firing system for stereotype pots and it is working most satisfactorily. With the use of the new system it is possible to heat 2,500 pounds of metal in fifty minutes with gas. The new system eliminates the use of coal and the caring of the coal fire under the melting pot. It also does away with ashes and dust and dirt, giving a quicker and cleaner heat with considerably less amount of work. The

MACCABEES' ORGANIZATIONS VOTE FOR MERGER

Detroit, Jan. 8.—The proposed merger between the Maccabees and the Ladies of the Maccabees, two of America's pioneer fraternal benefit societies, was officially ratified by the Maccabees at a special international convention in Detroit yesterday.

The merger plan, which was approved by the Ladies of the Maccabees on December 11, will be submitted immediately to Leonard T. Hand, Michigan commissioner of insurance, and will go into effect ninety days after his approval.

According to its terms, the two societies will be combined into one mammoth organization with 250,000 members and assets of over $25,000,000. Whole family protection will be issued for men, women and children with rates based on the American Experience mortality table. Men and women will meet in separate lodges, and the children's groups will be auxiliary to the women's local branches. Members of the L. O. T. M. will retain the title of Ladies of the Maccabees and their own ritual and will be full fledged members of the new society on a basis of full equality with the men.

Began Collegiate System

Walter De Merton, bishop of Rochester, originated the collegiate system of the English universities when in 1261, he established Merton college, at Oxford, for worthy students unable to pay for lodgings.

FIRE PREVENTION.

Question—When a frame building burns down, what is left? Answer—The chimney alone, because it is built of brick. Chimneys are built of brick because they are fireproof. Why not construct the whole building of brick, that is Real Fire Prevention. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. When you build, use brick exclusively. There may be a slight increase in first cost, but always a large saving in maintenance. Building brick and sand. TERRY BROTHERS CO. Tel. 1674.

WALKER GOES BEFORE COMMISSION TODAY

New York, Jan. 8.—Accompanied by Tex Rickard, Jack Kearns and his usual retinue, Mickey Walker, welter-weight champion, were scheduled to appear before the State Athletic Commission today that it made a mistake when it declared him "unavailable" for his scheduled title bout with Tommy Milligan, of England, on January 22. Walker will submit himself to a physical examination in the hope of proving that his injured toe, which prevented a bout with Milligan for the Christmas fund, has healed completely.

Rickard will be present to point out to the board that since he previously lost $11,000 on the Christmas fund bouts, he should be given a chance to get even. Billy Ames, manager of Milligan, will add the claim that a postponement will be an injustice to the Englishman, who travelled four thousand miles for the bout.

SCHATZ SUES "RED" GRANGE FOR $50,000.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 8.—A. H. Schatz, home town friend of Harold "Red" Grange at Wheaton, Ill., and known in the theatrical world as Johnny Small, has sued Grange in superior court here for $50,000.

Schatz claimed that he conceived the idea of capitalizing Grange's athletic prowess and that they signed a contract by which he became Grange's manager. Then Grange changed his mind, after Schatz had given him wide publicity as the team athlete, signed up with C. C. Prye and became a professional football player, the position alleges.

Damages are asked because Schatz charges Grange failed to fill a 32 weeks valuable engagement arranged for him by Schatz.

FLOWERS-SHADE FIGHT MERELY A SUGGESTION

New York, Jan. 8.—In a statement made public today, James A. Farley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, denied that the board hoped to side track Tiger Flowers as an opponent for Harry Greb in a middleweight championship bout by insisting that the Atlanta negro meet Dave Shade. He said a Flowers-Shade fight was merely a suggestion.

"The Flowers-Shade bout was suggested because Greb asked for an extension of time and we thought an elimination bout might be practicable at this time," he said. "Flowers accepted the idea but Shade turned it down."

Schalk Offered Job.

Nadison, Wis., Jan. 8.—Ray Schalk, star catcher for the Chicago White Sox, has been offered a job coaching the Wisconsin University baseball squad until he goes south with the White Sox in March.

Game of Golf in 1925 Had Plenty of Thrills

Seldom has a year of professional golf produced the thrilling situations of the 1925 campaign. The only two champions to repeat were Walter Hagen and Leo Diegel.

Willie Macfarlane was the sensation of the year. Little regarded in the national open, he won the title, also the Shawnee open, another major event.

In the national open it was Bobby Jones, master of the amateurs, who tied with Macfarlane. It was necessary to play 36 holes before the tie was decided. It was all even again at the end of the first 18. This is the first time in the history of golf 36 extra holes were required to determine the winner.

At the end of the first 9 holes of the second 18, Jones enjoyed a four-stroke lead. It didn't seem as if any golfer could spot Jones four strokes in nine and beat him. That is just what Macfarlane did, his margin at the finish being a lone stroke.

Mardonald Smith was the only other professional to win two titles. He captured the western open and the Long Island open with the remarkable scores of 281.

SPORTING SQUIBS

Handball is a game of Irish origin. James J. Jeffries, former heavy-weight champion of the world, is fifty years old.

Athletics is now considered a major subject in virtually all universities in Germany.

The New Orleans Young Men's Hebrew association may build a $75,000 gymnasium.

You'll notice that nobody has ever yelled at Red Grange that he moves like an ice wagon.

Georges Carpentier, the popular French boxer, is returning to the United States for a bout with Eberlebach.

Husky football players at Harvard have a dinner diet of beef broth and graham crackers, with a half hour of rest.

Hughie Jennings left his job as a miner to enter baseball. Hughie just possibly looks back on this as his first strike.

Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills will be insured for $300,000 before their bout in Michigan City, Ind., next September.

Red Grange is like some executives. He doesn't get anywhere unless three or four unidentified helpers have prepared the way.

The largest number of touchdowns scored during the last intercollegiate football season (16) was made by Benkert of Rutgers.

Emerson Carey, Jr., of Hutchinson, Kan., right guard on the Cornell varsity football team, has been elected captain of the 1926 team.

Where is Red Grange's press agent that he hasn't presented a story about the Galloping Ghost having his legs insured for a million dollars?

Leonard Glashenker, outfielder of the Springfield Western association team, who was a holdout the past season, has asked for reinstatement.

No sooner is football out of the way at college than basketball takes its place on the program, or winter practice for baseball starts. A hard life.

Los Angeles is said to be angling for Pitcher Frank Shellenbach from Sacramento. Shellenbach lives in Los Angeles and desires to play ball in his home town.

"Stuffy" McInnis, veteran first baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates is rated the best golf player in the majors. He always plays in the 80's and very often is below that figure.

A college coach is alarmed by the idea that "Red" Grange's example may be followed by other college players. Which ones, may we ask, have had the same sort of offers?

University of California finds its 22,000 bowl seats insufficient for its annual game with Stanford and contemplates adding 5,000 to 10,000 seats along the east rim of the big stadium.

One Bonner, owner of the Milwaukee club, has announced that his Brewers will not return to Sanford, Fla., next spring for the conditioning period. Instead the American association team will go to Hot Springs, Ark.

New Orleans of the Southern League has signed William E. Newby, a right-handed pitcher, who hails from the Mississippi Agricultural college. He is nineteen years old and his home is in Anding, Miss. The Pelicans have also signed Lefty Nichols, a young Louisiana semipro hurler, for a trial.

TWO GAMES TONIGHT AT SPURTH HALL.

Ellenville High School will meet the strong Salvation Army quintet this evening at Spurth Hall at 7:30. Following this match the K. R. S. second team will battle the Clinton Independents. This is the first time these teams have met this season. This promises to be a close match as the Clinton Seniors defeated the High School outfit several weeks ago only by a scant margin.

Saturday evening a close match is looked forward to when the Clinton team will be played between the Clinton Avenue Gym team and the Fair Street Reformers.

K. R. S. QUINSET TO PLAT MIDDLETOWN
The Maroon and White quintet leaves late this afternoon for Middletown where they will mix blows with the Middletown in a Dues League tilt. This match will make the locals' third league tilt of the season. K. R. S. has a good chance of erasing this affair as Middletown has been badly defeated in games played so far this season.

Coach O'Leary will take a squad of twelve men which will probably consist of Schatz, Brubaker, Vardi, Smith, Schalk, Barker, Porter, Short, Woodruff, Moore, Clark and Irwin. In this match the local number will arrive the New-up slightly, using Smith at center, Vogel and Brubaker in the forward berth and Schalk and Schalk at the guard spots.
